‘Prankster’ was found dead in tree

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A ‘HAPPY-GO-LUCKY’ teenager has been found hanged in a tree near his home.

The body of Johnathan Brennan, 19, was discovered in the communal gardens behind his home on Downs Barn Boulevard, Downs Barn, on Saturday, April 12.

An inquest, held on Friday, heard that he sent a string of text messages to his ex-girlfriend in the moments before he died.

One, sent from his mother’s phone at 1.16 that morning, said “Do I have the balls?”

Mr Brennan, who lived with his parents and worked as a building renderer, had spent the night before drinking in the city centre with friends and left Lloyds bar, in the Theatre District, alone, at around midnight.

He then appears to have returned home but no one knows what happened in the hours before he was found dead by a neighbour at 6.20am.

He began texting his ex-girlfriend, Laura Small, just past midnight and spoke to her, but refused to go to her house.

Miss Small, who was celebrating her birthday that night, said: “He just kept repeating ‘have I got the balls?’. I thought he was referring to going to have a fight or something.”

Hanged: Johnathan Brennan

His final message to her, at 1.20am, said “I love you.”

Emergency services were called next morning to reports of a man hanging from a tree and Mr Brennan was confirmed dead at the scene.

Dr Ky Lwin, consultant pathologist, told the inquest he died of asphyxia due to hanging by a nylon rope. He had twice the legal driving limit of alcohol in his blood and had taken cannabis.

He had broken up with his girlfriend a month before, lost his job that week, his grandfather was ill and he had been arrested for the first time the previous weekend in connection with an alleged assault in the city centre – which CCTV later showed he played no part in – but he seemed largely unfazed by these things.

Ross Pickthall, a neighbour and friend for seven years, said that night he was ‘himself, happy-go-lucky and doing his usual thing popping jokes every time he could’.

His parents, who also have a daughter called Natasha, said he was a popular prankster who was loved by everybody.

His mother, Helen, said: “Johnathan was very loveable, very caring and used to brag to his friends that he was a mummy’s boy.

“There was never a day went by when he didn’t leave the house without saying ‘love you mum’.”

Coroner Rodney Corner gave an open verdict, saying there was not a strand of evidence to show what the teenager’s intentions were.

“I am quite prepared to believe that he was a prankster and that there is a possibility, though a relatively small possibility, that this was a prank that went wrong,” he said.

Des Smith of Woolfe Jewellery in thecentre:mk measures Tom Carrey for his replacement wedding ring

A 'diamond geezer' replaces Dons fan's lost wedding ring

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

AN MK Dons fan who lost his wedding ring while clapping at a match is celebrating a real result after a kind-hearted jeweller offered to make a replacement.

Tom Carrey paid the ultimate penalty as he applauded Paul Mitchell's return from injury at last Saturday's friendly against Reading.

His wedding band was last seen flying through the air and Mr Carrey admits it has been an emotional week as the search for the ring touched many fans, stewards and even boss Roberto Di Matteo.

While the ring remained lost, local jeweller John Woolfe, owner of Woolfe Jewellery in thecentre:mk, spotted the story in MK NEWS and offered Mr Carrey the next best thing – a replacement designed from scratch.

Mr Woolfe said: "We thought it was such a shame to lose your wedding ring so we thought we could help out and donate one."

Yesterday Mr Carrey visited the jewellers to be sized up for a specially made replica ahead of his 31st wedding anniversary, which he will celebrate with wife Miriam next Wednesday.

Mr Carrey, 52, from Redwood Gate, Shenley Lodge, said: "This has made me feel very emotional again obviously.

"It's my wife's birthday today and our anniversary is coming up so this is brilliant for us.

"I was going to miss out on going to the football so I could save up to buy a replacement."

Woolfe Jewellery manager Des Smith took a detailed description of the ring and engraving on Tuesday.

It will now be specially crafted and delivered to Mr Carrey so that he can enjoy his wedding anniversary and the next MK Dons match.

Tattooed 'flasher' sought by police

A MAN exposed himself to a 10-year-old girl as she walked home from school.

He rode past the girl on a bicycle before stopping and flashing her as she walked across a bridge in Langerstone Lane in Tattenhoe.

The girl continued to walk across the bridge and the man followed her to the end of the bridge where he turned right.

A month after the incident, which occurred at 4pm on June 26, Thames Valley Police has asked for the public's help to find the offender.

He is white, aged between 25 and 28-years-old, 5ft 6ins, average build with blonde spiked hair.

He has a distinctive tattoo on his lower left leg of a female with long hair and was wearing white and red shorts and a white and red vest top.

PC Simon Batchelor said: "We want to catch this man as soon as possible. "The girl was left very frightened by the incident and we want to stop him doing anything like this again.

"We want to hear from anyone who recognises the description the girl has given or anyone who may have been in the area at that time who saw the same man on the bike.

"This incident is extremely worrying particularly given the age of the girl involved."

Anyone with information can contact PC Batchelor on 08458 505505.

New crematorium planned for city

MILTON Keynes Council is keen to reassure residents that funeral services at Crownhill Crematorium are not being cut.

The comment follows a story in last week's newspaper which claimed that some service times had been reduced.

Since 1999 the council has recognised the need for grieving relatives to have extra time for services at Crownhill Crematorium and made available services running for 45 minutes instead of the 30 minutes offered by the many local authorities in the UK.

The 45-minute services have not been cut back and are available on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays – while on Monday and Friday the services are normally 30 minutes.

The only change to the service was made ten years ago when the council appreciated that more time was needed so the 45-minute service was introduced on three days a week.

This has remained the same ever since.

At a recent council cabinet meeting it was decided to invest in new crematorium facilities at Crownhill to cope with the expansion of Milton Keynes – one of the fastest growing places in the UK.

Penalty charge claim wrong

AN article in last week's MK NEWS quoted an off-duty police officer suggesting civil enforcement officers have been knowingly issuing penalty charge notices in areas of Milton Keynes where they are not entitled to do so.

We accept that the source was mistaken in this belief, and apologise to NCP Services for publishing the claim.

Man pleads guilty to Internet porn

BY LAURA HANNAM
Laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN from Walnut Tree has pleaded guilty to distributing thousands of indecent images of children on the Internet.

Mark John Wasden, pleaded guilty to 13 charges at Aylesbury Crown Court yesterday (Tuesday, July 29).

The charges included possession of a total of over 541 indecent images of children on a computer and possession of 7,385 indecent images with intent to distribute them or show them to another.

He also pleaded guilty to the distribution of a total of 2,074 indecent images of children and incitement of others to distribute a total of 2,946 images, all through an Internet chat room.

The offences occurred between September 2006 and October 2007.

Wasden, 36, was remanded in custody and will reappear for sentencing in August.

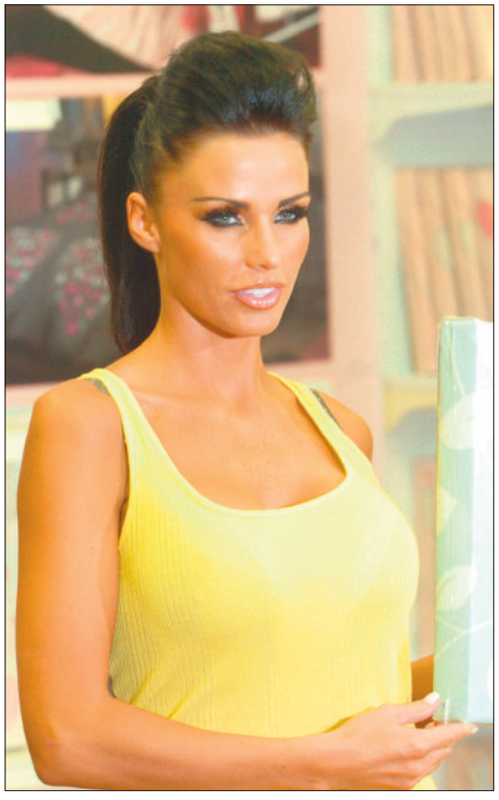
Judge Christopher Tyrer warned Wasden a custodial sentence is 'inevitable'.

Wasden's arrest in February this year was part of a complex nationwide investigation, led by Child Exploitation and Online Protection (CEOP), working with the Thames Valley Police High Tech Crime Unit.

Sixteen suspects were identified as being part of an online chat group, who were sending and receiving child abuse images and discussing child abuse.

Four other suspects in the Thames Valley were identified and arrested late last year, leading to all four men pleading guilty at Oxford Crown Court.

Detective Sergeant Duncan Wynn, from the High Tech Crime Unit, said: "The success of this operation sends out a clear message that, despite offenders using more sophisticated methods to avoid detection, we will track them down and they will be brought to justice."



Price right as star shows off duvets

KATIE Price is used to her dirty laundry being aired in public but yesterday she had fresh new bed sheets on show.

The reality TV star and glamour girl, also known as Jordan, was at the Matalan store in Milton Keynes to promote her new bedding range designed exclusively for the store.

Katie, who already has a lingerie collection and is a best selling author, has a range consisting of three duvet sets on sale at Matalan now.

The crowds turned out in force to catch a glimpse of the star.

Baby unit gets all-clear after killer bug outbreak

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE neonatal unit at Milton Keynes Hospital has reopened after two babies died when contracting a killer bug.

The unit was closed on Thursday, July 3, after an outbreak of the bacteria Klebsiella contributed to the deaths of two babies.

Yesterday a spokesman for Milton Keynes Hospital Trust confirmed that the unit has now fully reopened following a thorough investigation by microbiologists and guidance from the Health Protection Agency (HPA).

A spokesman said: "The investigation is now completed and the findings and recommendations are being considered and actively reviewed by the clinical teams involved.

"There is no indication or evidence that the Trust did not take appropriate and swift action following the identification of the bacteria.

"The babies in the neonatal unit over this period have now gone home and are well.

"The death of any patient in our care is always a cause for great sadness among the staff concerned, and we would like to extend our deepest sympathy to the families."

Klebsiella is particularly dangerous to vulnerable patients and those with a weak immune system.

It is the first time that the bacteria has been found on the neonatal unit at Milton Keynes Hospital, which cares for more than 300 premature, small or ill babies a year.

Meanwhile the unit's Little Future Lives Appeal has raised about £20,000 towards its £250,000 target for a major refurbishment and new equipment.

Mickey Mouse courses at new university centre

SIR – I welcome the idea of having a new university centre for Milton Keynes but I am not happy with the Mickey Mouse courses such as design media, social sciences, counselling, marketing, business management, sports, leisure management and so on, the university is going to offer.

There are nearly 200 universities and higher education institutions in Britain who provide these type of soft option courses and some of the institutions cannot fill all their places.

There is a shortage of skilled persons in the area of computer science such as systems analyst, computer programmers and in electronics, civil, mechanical and electrical engineering fields.

Every year more than 100,000 employment vouchers are issued for highly skilled workers mainly to work in computer and engineering fields. There is no shortage of workers in the field of media, counselling, sport and marketing.

The university should concentrate in starting undergraduate courses in all engineering fields and in computer science.

Last week Parliament approved the construction of Crossrail and the project has secured £16billion funding from the government.

Work on Crossrail, the largest civil engineering project in Europe will start soon.

The project may require hundreds of civil, mechanical and electrical engineers.

Up to 14,000 people will be employed in the construction and training schemes.

Crossrail, along with projects such as Thameslink, will provide jobs for qualified degree and diploma holders in all engineering fields.

It is left to the new university to start courses which are oriented towards the needs of British industry and not sociologists or counsellors.

Council consultations a waste of time

SIR – I see that Cllr Douglas McCall is criticising the public for not engaging with the council's consultation over the city's future development.

Can I suggest two better explanations for public cynicism over this issue?

Residents are competely disillusioned by the sham consultations that have become a hallmark of this Lib-Dem administration.

From Oakgrove to Tavistock Street, from Area 11 to school mergers in Bletchley, from city streets to traffic lights all over our grid-roads, this administration has displayed such complete disregard for what local people want that they have given up bothering to express an opinion.

What is more surprising is that there are 230 members of the public who still hope our comments will be taken into account, when all the evidence suggests that we'll be ignored in the usual way.

Secondly, the consultation shows that there is a great vision of what MK should become, but the administration hasn't a clue how to make it happen.

The vision talks about 'Milton Keynes an iconic city which seeks to retain its individuality and dynamism, international reputation as a knowledge-based city, driven by innovation and technology, uniquely green and landscaped city, rich cultural, recreation and educational activities, excellent quality of life'.

And how do the Lib-Dems propose to achieve this?

By building thousands of flats that only appeal to a small sector of the community.

By building more 'social rented' accommodation than anywhere else in the region.

By demonising anyone who dares to own a car.

By making job-creation an almost-forgotten afterthought in their new cabinet structure.

When the people posing the questions clearly haven't got a clue about how to build the kind of future we all want, and don't listen to the public anyway, the low level of public participation is entirely predictable.

Cllr John Bint (Conservative)
Middleton Ward

■ SIR – I disagree with Cllr McCall's assumption that the people of MK are 'happy' when only 230 people out of 230,000 responded to a consultation about the city's future development. (MK NEWS, July 16.)

It is because their views are consistently ignored by the council.

Ask the people of Emberton who objected to plans for huge wind turbines in their area, only to find the plans approved anyway.

Ask the residents who objected to plans for a rugby club in the middle of their residential area and were ignored.

No, Cllr McCall. The reason for low response rates to council surveys is that past experience shows the council ignores what the people of MK want, in favour of its own agenda.

Deirdre Clune
Quilter Meadow, Old Farm Park

■ SIR – So, Cllr Douglas McCall believes that the lack of response to the consultation over the future of MK '..means on the whole people are happy'.

Mr McCall needs to come into the real world – perhaps considering that there are very few of the electorate that actually believe MK Council actually take any notice of public opinion whatsoever and that the consequent apathy is driven by a 'they never listen' mentality?

Silence does not imply assent, it may imply a total lack of belief in the democracy of local government.

N J Palk
Cloudberry, Walnut Tree

Powerless over POs

SIR – Mark Lancaster, MP for MK North East (Con) is reported to 'not understand why, when Milton Keynes is expanding, we are decreasing our Post Office network', and that he promises to fight to save them.

Phyllis Starkey, MP for South West MK (Lab), is said to be 'very disappointed' by the news of the six (so far) proposed closures across Milton Keynes.

They both know very well, or ought to, that EU directive 97/67/EC 'Privatisation of postal services', followed up by EU directive 2002/39/EC calling for a 'step-by-step approach to further market-opening' and 'the full accomplishment of the internal market for postal services by 2009', gives the Post Office no option but to slash its network.

The once profitable and universally liked Royal Mail and its network of Post Offices has been deliberately fractured to allow rival postal companies (mainly Dutch TNT and German Deutsche Post DHL and others) to cherry pick the money-making areas, leaving the loss-making to the Royal Mail.

The Labour, Lib-Dem, and Conservative parties are all committed to Britain remaining in the EU and thus being subject to rule by that foreign power.

I simply do not believe that these politicians are unaware that while we are still members of the EU we have a legal obligation to implement whatever directives (no matter how damaging to our country) that are issued by Brussels.

Their squawks of indignation over the Post Office closures are therefore entirely hypocritical since they fully support their respective parties policies of staying in the EU.

There will be a European Parliament election in just over ten months time at which the British electorate is very likely to exact bitter revenge on these three parties.

Michael Phillips, chairman,
UKIP Milton Keynes branch

Flooding facts

SIR – I read with interest the two completely opposite accounts of the council's performance one year after the floods in Stoke Goldington.

One MK paper, featuring the local councillor, told of money set aside, spent on flood defences and everything was rosey while the other, featuring actual victims, claimed that only superficial work had been done and if a similar storm occurred they would flood again.

On making further enquiries I learned the councillor is a Lib Dem, the same party who knocked on my door at the local elections claiming credit for work myself, local residents and Mark Lancaster had done.

When I then spoke to a friend of mine who lives in Stoke Goldington it transpires the only work done thus far involves water leaving the village and nothing slowing the water cascading into the village.

Thank goodness we have two papers in MK and well done to MK NEWS for publishing a factual account of the situation by speaking to those who are not in it for votes.

Unlucky to be caught

SIR – Regarding the story of Lisa Banks' fly-tipping.

At the end of the day, she is looking out for her children and the community.

Yes, she is the chairman of the residents' association and may have been convicted of fly-tipping in the past. But is putting a nappy in a box really fly-tipping?

Lisa has done more things in Coffee Hall's community than any person or council has done before.

All us young people respect her for what she is doing and understand that everyone has a mishap once in a while.

Considering that people dump cupboards and fridges etc, I think she was truly unlucky to get caught.

To be honest I think you need to come and do a story on what has actually changed within Coffee Hall community both old and young, to help people realise that Lisa isn't the bad dog you have made her out to be.

Thank you Lisa for your help and guidance in such a short space of time in which we have known you.

A lick of paint

SIR – Regarding your story 'Confusion over parking tickets' I received a ticket in one of these spaces and have queried it as there is no signage to say it is restricted.

I was referred to the Highway Code but that says that yellow lines apply to the 'carriageway, pavement and verge'. I wasn't parked on any of those.

If the yellow lines refer to the parking bays they should be painted around them and not just straight down the carriageway.

Jackie McKenna,

Anti-knife crime hero

SIR – It was great to see that so many people had responded to Alex Holmes and his bid to cut out the use of knives among young people (MK NEWS, July 23).

We need more people who are able to speak directly to youngsters and get the message across.

There is a lot of waffling going on among politicians about how crime can be reduced but a lot of hot air in the House of Commons is not getting to grips with the issues at a grass roots level.

Keep up the good work Alex.

Work starts on the site of the new Coachway at Junction 14

Out with the old, in with the new

Work starts on new Coachway as old one is demolished

A LITTLE piece of Milton Keynes transport history is no more.

The Coachway building at Junction14 was knocked down on Monday.

Built in the early 1980s by Bucks County Council, the Coachway was an experiment to establish Milton Keynes as a destination within the national coach network. It is now the second busiest coach interchange in the UK and an important gateway to the city.

The buildings were demolished to make way for the new facility.

Work will start on the new building in September and will be completed by spring next year.

A key aspect of the design is the striking roof canopy with rooflights above the coach bays, making use of natural daylight to provide a bright, covered area for passengers getting on and off coaches.

Inside the building there will be a heated waiting area for approximately 100 people with seating positioned to let passengers see the customer information screens and coach bays clearly.

Other facilities will include a cafe, a convenience shop and ticket office for the National Express Group, public and disabled toilets with baby changing facilities and a taxi service.

The site will have 24 hour manned security with CCTV coverage of parking areas.

All change: Cllr Chris Williams in one of the demolition dozers

Top marks for mental health care

THE city's mental health services are among the top 12 per cent in the NHS, according to the Healthcare Commission (HCC).

Acute adult in-patient mental health services in Milton Keynes are one of eight that have been rated 'excellent' in the commission's largest ever review across the country.

The announcement means the service's performance 'goes well beyond the minimum requirements and the reasonable expectations of patients and the public'.

The service, which is provided jointly by Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust (PCT) and Milton Keynes Council, is aimed at meeting the needs of people with an acute mental health problem requiring admission to hospital.

The HCC's inspection, carried out between June 21 and August 3 2007, looked at four key criteria.

The service was rated 'excellent' for two, including focusing on the needs of the individual and providing care that is personalised and promotes recovery and inclusion; and involvement of service users in their own care.

It was rated 'good' for timely and appropriate admission to hospital.

Julie Bootle, interim head of joint mental health services, said: "This is fantastic news and a real endorsement of the hard work and improvements that our team have made over the last couple of years."

A key way the service needs to improve is in having approaches in place to make sure patients, staff and visitors are safe, for which it was rated 'fair'.

The HCC inspection showed it is performing weakly in areas of staff training including in the prevention or handling of violence and aggression, dealing with service users who use alcohol or drugs and in sexual safety awareness.

Commuters fight delay compensation changes

COMMUTERS are fighting changes to compensation for train delays and strikes.

Instead of being given automatic cash refunds for disruptions, known as 'void days', they now have to make a detailed application to the train company, after which they will receive a voucher for future train travel.

MK Rail Users' group says this penalises season ticket holders, who, despite being able to redeem them when they renew their ticket, prefer the cash.

Train operator London Midland could not tell us how many customers claimed compensation since the 'delay repay' system was introduced in November 2007.

Mark Lancaster, MP for Milton Keynes north east, raised the issue in Parliament last week, deeming the new system 'inconvenient to the point of being unworkable'.

Afterwards he told MK NEWS: "It's clear that the system has been changed with rail operators in mind not long-suffering commuters.

"I will continue to press the minster to change it back."

Jill Hope, of MK Rail Users Group, said: "When was the change announced? It wasn't."

A spokesman for London Midland, which is currently in talks with the group, said that it is looking to modify the scheme to make it more efficient.

"Delay Repay was specified by the Department for Transport for all new rail franchises in 2007 and already applies to some existing franchises," she said.

BLETCHLEY PARK ROYAL VISIT

Report by ROB GIBSON Pictures: Andy Handley

The Prince of Wales and Duchess of Cornwall arrive at The Mansion House, Bletchley Park in Winston Churchill's Rolls Royce

"I woke up this morning, turned the wireless on and heard something about Bletchley Park. I was so pleased to hear that attention is being paid to this amazing place

THE fight to save Bletchley Park received a huge boost when Prince Charles visited and declared his support.

The Prince of Wales and The Duchess of Cornwall arrived at the home of Churchill's codebreakers at 11.15am on Thursday.

They were given a tour of the historic huts by Bletchley Park Trust director, Simon Greenish, and met some of the veterans who helped to crack the German codes during the Second World War.

In May MK NEWS revealed that Bletchley Park is in danger of falling apart unless the charity can raise millions of pounds to repair its neglected buildings.

Addressing Trust members, local dignitaries and park volunteers, Prince Charles said: "I woke up this morning, turned the wireless on and heard something about Bletchley Park.

"I was so pleased to hear that attention is being paid to this amazing place.

"You are the keepers of one of the greatest British success stories.

"I would like to express my admiration for all those who have done so much to prevent it (Bletchley Park) from being raised to the ground.

"I couldn't admire more those who literally stood in front of the bulldozers.

"It's been great today having this opportunity to go round and see something I've always wanted to see.

"It's also been a particular privilege to meet those remarkable people who used to work here during the war."

Earlier this year MK NEWS backed the museum's fundraising project after Mr Greenish revealed that Milton Keynes' most important his

BLETCHLEY PARK ROYAL VISIT

Mayor Jan Lloyd meets the Prince of Wales as he arrives with the Duchess of Cornwall at Bletchley Park torical site is in danger of crumbling if serious financial backing is not found within four ayears.

The buildings under threat include Bletchley Park Mansion and Hut 6, where German army and airforce Enigma machine ciphers were cracked.

On Thursday the Royals took a two-hour tour, beginning with introductions to dignitaries including the Lord-Lieutenant for Buckinghamshire, Sir Henry Aubrey-Fletcher, MP Phyllis Starkey and Bletchley Park Trust chairman, Sir Francis Richards.

Prince Charles and Camilla were shown the Bombe and Collosus replica codebreaking machines by the engineers who built them but were equally impressed by the accounts of two of the Park's volunteers, Mavis and Keith Batey.

Mavis was 19 when she joined the codebreaking team at Bletchley Park.

Although the 87-year-old had met Prince Charles before, she was excited about showing him around 'From Bletchley With Love', a new exhibition inspired by former Bletchley Park officer and James Bond author, Ian Fleming.

Mavis said: "In those days you only knew what you needed to know.

"This is about revealing the missing bits of Fleming's secret world."

The Royal party listened intently to her presentation and afterwards Mavis said that she was pleased with the Prince's words of support for the Trust.

She said: "He seemed so personally involved.

"It was a great honour and it helped everybody who is working to save Bletchley Park.

"We hope at last the Government sees that we need funding."

Earlier in the day, Prince Charles was also impressed by a lead sculpture of the Bombe designer and founding father of the modern computer, Alan Turing.

Sculptor Stephen Kettle said that the Prince is now his biggest fan.

"I told him I could dismantle and rebuild it in an hour," said Mr Kettle.

"And it's made from Welsh slate, the finest slate, so I think he liked that He said he had never seen anything like it."

Park volunteer Mavis Batey chats to The Prince of Wales as Simon Greenish looks on

In the Mansion's library Prince Charles unveiled a commemorative plaque and spoke of how the codebreakers helped a naval fleet that included his own father.

As the visit concluded members of The Prince's Trust from Milton Keynes College also had a chance to speak to the Royals.

The event provided welcome publicity for the fundraising campaign and a petition on the Downing Street website has now attracted 7,062 signatures.

Following repair work on the Mansion, old roof tiles are now being sold, framed along with a special plaque, for £60 each.

MP for Milton Keynes South West, Phyllis Starkey, confirmed afterwards that she is working with the Trust director 'to ensure the Park's financial future' and Bletchley Park has re-applied to the Heritage Lottery Fund for support.

A sleeping dragon, a talking tree and a story-telling wizard

– welcome to Christmas in thecentre:mk

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

IT really is Christmas every day for the people who are currently working like elves to construct thecentre:mk's festive display.

The sun may be blazing outside on the hottest days of the year, but inside an old textile factory in Huddersfield it is snowy roof tops, cosy shops and winter wonderlands that are being slavishly created.

As soon as last year's display was dismantled, discussions between KD Decoratives and thecentre:mk began on the theme for this year in Milton Keynes – and they settled on a mystical and magical style.

Jackie Tracey, commercial and events manager at the centre:mk, describes it as a cross between Harry Potter and The Polar Express.

There will be 40 moving figures in the display which is the biggest of the 100 shopping centre spaces which the company works on.

There will be two animatronic figures, a talking tree and story-telling wizard, as well as a giant sleeping dragon, a steam train, unicorns, a station-style grotto and rows of quaint shops, which nod to the iconic Harry Potter setting, Diagon Alley.

KD Decoratives have finished 70 per cent of the display, for which there is a budget of £400,000.

But it will not be until November that the 13 articulated lorries will bring ithe magic to Middleton Hall, and after three nights' assembly, as if by magic, on Friday, November 7 it will appear.

Ms Tracey said: "What we want to achieve is the wow factor, but also all the detail that will make people want to keep coming back.

"Every single year we do a new show - that's one of the thing's that makes it special.

"The public of Milton Keynes has expectation of the show - there is a civic pride in the fact that it's the best in the country.

"People of Milton Keynes who have grown up with the display now bring their children to see it."

MK SNAP to get Wishing Pool cash

MILTON Keynes-based charity MK SNAP is celebrating Christmas early after it has been announced that it is this year's beneficiary for the Wishing Pool at thecentre:mk's Christmas show.

The Wishing Pool is a central feature to the annual Christmas Show in Middleton Hall and is used to raise money for local charity organisations and community groups.

Since 1985 over £345,000 has been raised and distributed throughout projects that benefit the local community.

In 2007 just over £17,000 was collected and given to St Tiggywinkles for their work in wildlife care.

Jackie Tracey, events manager at thecentre:mk said: "MK SNAP does such excellent work in providing work and life skills training to people over 16 with learning and physical disabilities.

"Christmas is really all about giving rather than receiving, so we will be highlighting how shoppers can have a positive impact on the members of MK SNAP while enjoying our Christmas display."

Ian Farmer, operations director of MK SNAP, said: "This is fantastic news. The donation will be used to help fund our new centre which doubles the size of our current capacity and can accommodate over 70 people."

Jackie Tracey, events manager at thecentre:mk ensures Christmas comes early for Sue Fennemore, fundraising co-ordinator at MK SNAP

Bye-bye little weed

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

HUNDREDS of tonnes of weed is being pulled out of Willen Lake by amphibious vehicles this week.

Milton Keynes Parks Trust blames the warm weather for forcing it to take this measure for the first time in 25 years.

Two vehicles from South Wales based Aquaclear Water Management are each cutting and raking out 30 tonnes wet weight of weed a day.

The amphibious Truxor harvesters, worth up to £60,000, are working at Willen Lake for seven days, then Caldecotte Lake for a further four.

They are cutting at a depth of seven feet and each rake carries a quarter of a tonne of weed.

The weed is piled onto the sides of the lake and left for at least 24 hours to allow wildlife to return to the water before it is taken away for composting.

Rai Darke, operations manager for the Parks Trust, said it uses herbicides to keep the problem at bay but the mild winter and recent warm weather has caused an abundance of weed growth.

The Parks Trust also introduced a fast-growing "super" carp to Willen Lake two years ago to eat the weed, but the fish are not yet fully grown.

"It is interfering with water sports, has the potential to become hazardous and we did not want the lake to get choked," he said.

He added that the changing climate, the growing use of the lakes for water sports and people's expectation for better water quality means they may have to use the measure more often in future.

Brian Harries, owner of Aquaclear which clears waterways for the RSPB, said Willen is one of the largest lakes he has ever worked on and is 'pretty well infested'.

"If you have a significant period of ice it will kill it off but if not it just lies dormant and then carries on growing," he added.

Rok and an Ark place

A TEAM from Milton Keynes builder Rok were 'all hands on decking' when they rolled up their sleeves to give a makeover to the garden of a charity home.

Regional customer leader Simon Haddy rallied the troops on Friday on a day-long mission to give a £5,000 facelift to the garden at New Bradwell, the Ark Charity's bedsit accommodation for young people.

Six Rok technicians were joined by Rok office staff during the day to help with the decking, decorations and planting that will enhance the garden environment for residents.

Simon said: "This is the second charity project that we will have completed this year and we hope to do a third before Christmas."

The bedsit units at New Bradwell provide 'move-on' housing which enables residents to lead a more independent life while still enjoying the support of the charity.

Energy savers

ECO homes are being showcased at a Milton Keynes development.

All of the homes at the new Willow Lake build on the south-west side of Milton Keynes feature double glazed windows that are expected to cut down on wasted energy, thus making savings on heating costs.

Developer George Wimpey is offering four and three-bedroom properties at the site and claims that all offer a high standard specification that includes gas central heating and a kitchen with built-in oven, hob and hood.

A spokesman said: "Each of the stylish homes has been expertly decorated, furnished and finished by the leading housebuilder's interior design team to create rooms with elegance and class.

"With Energy Efficiency windows supplied as standard, homeowners can now save even more on their heating bills and reduce their carbon footprint."

Local farrier shoes Olympic competitor

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A BLACKSMITH from Aspley Heath has shod a horse set to compete in the Beijing Olympics.

Nigel Turner, from Church Road, helped prepare international show jumper Tim Stockdale's horse to take part in the event.

The shoes were fitted in the early hours of Saturday, July 26 before the horse, called Fresh Direct Corlato (stable name Ruby), was put into quarantine for ten days.

The 11-year-old grey mare, which measures a huge 5ft 10ins high at the shoulder, will then be flown to the Hong Kong Olympic Equestrian Venue, in Shatin, on Monday, August 4 ready to start competing later this month.

Mr Turner, who has worked as a farrier around Milton Keynes for over 12 years, said: "I have never shod a horse that has competed at this level, so it is a first for me."

"It is not really different from shoeing other horses except there are more little extras such as putting studs in the shoe to give it extra grip."

"I am over the moon to do it."

Mr Turner, who also shoes horses for Thames Valley Police, has worked for Mr Stockdale for five years.

Ruby's shoes should last the whole competition, but a British team of farrier will be on hand during the event in case of any damage.

Farrier Nigel Turner at work: He's kitted out an Olympic entrant with shoes

Mr Stockdale, who lives in Roade, Northamptonshire will join three other riders in the show jumping team.

He was chosen to represent his country after he and Ruby jumped consistently well in recent competitions, including winning Best British Horse in Samsung Super Leagues in Italy and Switzerland.

After being chosen as a reserve for the Olympics three times he said he is excited to finally be competing.

He added that Nigel was chosen for the job as he is one of the best in his game.

"At the end of the day having a good team is an integral part of this and with the feet of the horse you can't take any chances," he said.

"You have got to have people that are the best at what they do."

Austrian contractors KLH at work dismantling the Forty Tower

What goes up must come down – Forty Tower goes into storage

WHAT goes up has to come down.

MK Forty Tower, the 19 metre high temporary artwork commissioned by Milton Keynes Gallery last year to celebrate the city's 40th anniversary, is being dismantled, ready for storage and eventual re-use by The Parks Trust.

Austrian contractors KLH have been working outside the gallery to dismantle the pre-fabricated wooden structure, which comes apart in three main sections.

The tower, made using a sustainable and CO2 responsible pre-fabricated cross-laminated timber panel construction won a regional Local Authority Building Control award in June 2008 for Best Structural Innovation, and has now been put forward to be judged at the national awards this October.

Gallery staff escorted almost 5,500 visitors up the Tower's 101 steps during the 69 days it was open to the public last summer, and it was seen by many thousands more attending the theatre or passing through the city centre.

It is estimated that the collective number of visitor steps topped 1.1 million the equivalent of around 550 miles.

From the upper viewing platform visitors were able to enjoy panoramic views the city centre, Campbell Park and the surrounding countryside.

The tower was designed by award-winning architects dRMM to contrast with the mostly horizontal architecture in Milton Keynes.

It was shown alongside dRMM's temporary exhibition for Milton Keynes Gallery, The Culture of Construction, which encouraged audiences to consider alternative methods of design and construction for the 21st century.

Built by KLH Ltd and engineered by Price and Myers, the tower's fabrication and installation is now assessed by its architects dRMM to be carbon neutral.

Football tournament raises mosque money

AMATEUR footballers have helped to raise more than £1,000 for a mosque.

A charity football tournament at Leon School and Sports College in Bletchley attracted about 500 players and spectators on Sunday, including MK Dons chairman Pete Winkelman, Mayor Jan Lloyd and MP for Milton Keynes South West Phyllis Starkey.

Twenty four teams competed to help raise funds for the Jamee Mosque in Bletchley.

Luton side Marsh Farm emerged victorious against a team from the Lakes Estate.

Tragedy-hit youth is 'inspirational'

A TEENAGER whose life has been blighted with death and illness is in the running for a prize which recognises young people's achievements.

Daniel Pritchard, 16, of Beanfare, Beanhill, cared for his grandmother who died last year, and now looks after his mother, Penny, who has cancer.

Previously Daniel's 13-year-old cousin Deanne died taking some pills and his stepfather, Peter, died when he was young.

As a result of his strength in dealing with all these, Daniel has been nominated for Young People of the Year award which could lead to a £1,000 top prize.

His mother Penny, 51, said: "I am so proud of him. He has just been brilliant. He has been around quite a lot of illnesses. "He helps in the house and with the shopping, mows the lawn and looks after me."

On top of his caring duties, Daniel goes to Carers Milton Keynes at The David Baxter Centre in North Seventh Street, chairs the Young Carers Forum, helps run an after-school club at Netherfield Children's Centre in Langland Road, and helps out with play schemes at Milton Keynes Play Association.

Lara dos Santos, who works with young carers and nominated Daniel, said: "He is a truly inspirational person and such a nice boy. He has had quite a sad life."

Daniel Pritchard: In the running for a Yoiung People of the Year award

If you know a young person like Daniel you can nominate them at www.yopey.org or send an SAE to PO Box 103, Hare Street, Ware SG9 0XD, for an entry form. The closing date is September 30.

Partners set to tie the knot

JOHN Lewis is often thought of as a family business, so it should come as no surprise to find that two John Lewis Milton Keynes partners have got married.

Sean Somerville from the floorcoverings department, and Karen Stone from womenswear, were married at All Saints Church in Milton Keynes Village on Monday.

Sean and Karen met through the John Lewis Milton Keynes walking club, just one of the many benefits for partners, as employees are called, working in the business today.

It is then appropriate that following the wedding they will be honeymooning in the Lake District, a haven for walkers.

Not content with arranging a wedding, which takes a tremendous amount of planning, the happy couple have just bought a new house, and are moving to a new branch of John Lewis in Leicester which is due to open in September.

Sean said that using the John Lewis Gift List really has taken a weight off their minds and allowed them to focus on their 'big day'.

Asked what advice Sean and Karen would offer to those currently planning their wedding they said: "Plan early, negotiate with all your suppliers, try to pick a weekday for the wedding as the prices are significantly lower, and last but definitely not least, use a good gift list service".

No prize for guessing which one.

Firefighters' warning on badly parked cars

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

FIREFIGHTERS are to leave warning messages to drivers whose parked cars block their path to an emergency.

Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service has launched new leaflets that will be attached to any vehicles which cause firefighters a problem.

The service says it is having particular difficulties in parts of Bletchley and is asking residents to consider whether a fire engine would be able to get to their house in an emergency.

A fire engine needs 10ft (3m) clearance to pass safely and streets congested with parked cars can delay fire engines and other emergency service vehicles attending an incident.

Watch manager Bob Stilton, from Bletchley Fire Station, said: "We are urging residents to think about their parking as they could be putting the lives of their families, friends and neighbours at risk.

"Inconsiderate parking can mean the difference between the emergency services saving a life or not.

"Cars may be able to pass down streets which have restricted access due to double parking or incorrect parking, but fire engines and ambulances can't."

No way through: Parked cars in St Mary's Avenue, Bletchley

Firefighters say they have had difficulty accessing the following streets at weekends and in the evenings: Church Street, George Street and Denmark Street in Fenny Stratford; Bushy Close, Calluna Drive, Selbourne Avenue, Tees Way, and Western Road in Bletchley; and areas of Ashlands, Lakes Estate, Saints Estate and Passmore, Tinkers Bridge.

The new leaflet has been produced by the fire service's Community Safety Team, backed by Thames Valley Police and South Central Ambulance Service.

Supergrass

See Supergrass on the grass – and kids go free

TAKE your kids to the coolest new music festival around.

Organisers of The Last Days of Summer Festival which takes place at Stowe House country estate on Bank Holiday Monday, August 25, have announced that an adult paying full price can take up to two under 12s absolutely free.

MK NEWS is the official media partner for the festival and features an amazing line up including Supergrass, Athlete, Fun Lovin' Criminals, Black Kids, The Rascals, Young Knives and Royworld and a special performance by a Britpop legend.

Paul Reaney, festival organiser said: "We are determined to put on an event that is as inclusive as possible. As parents ourselves, we really want to give all parts of our community the opportunity to experience a major outdoor music festival right on their doorstop.

"As a result we have taken the decision to allow every adult paying full price the opportunity to bring up to two under-12s absolutely free. With the event being on a Bank Holiday Monday, we felt that allowing Kids to go free was a great way of making it as easy as possible for as many families from MK and the region to come along and enjoy what is going to be an unforgettable day of music in an incredible setting. However, we have and want to be responsible so therefore unaccompanied minors will not be allowed access."

†The Last Days of Summer organisers have made a series of family-friendly additions to the already impressive on-stage line-up including a funfair, food village, market stalls, a mini-Snow Slope created by the MK Snozone, and a series of bungy-type experiences.

†Reaney added: "We are determined to put The Last Days of Summer and this region on the music map and will continue to work hard for the area and its families. We hope this move allows as many of them as possible to come along and enjoy this superb festival."

Fire service snuffs home fire incidents

Safety checks and fitting of smoke alarms sees a 20 per cent reduction

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE number of accidental fires in homes dropped by nearly 20 per cent last year.

However two people still died as a result of accidental fires the county's fire service has revealed.

According to Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service's annual report its programme of carrying out safety checks in people's homes, and fitting free smoke alarms where appropriate, resulted in the total number of accidental house fires falling from 472 to 381 in the year ending March 31, 2008. It completed 3,896 of these checks, of which 1,673 were in the homes of people over the age of 65.

But while the number of people injured in accidental house fires also fell slightly from 28 to 27, two people died – a figure the organisation is determined to bring down to zero.

Other targets the service met include bringing deliberate fires down from 2,062 to 1,844 and, the number of hoax 999 calls fell from 245 to 207.

The 32-page report summarises the service's performance and looks at how it plans to improve it in the future.

Cllr David Rowlands, chairman of Buckinghamshire & Milton Keynes Fire Authority, said: "Although we can't afford to drop our guard or be complacent, the report shows just how much work is being put into saving lives and making this a safer place to live for the population of more than 700,000 that we serve.

"Through our work on prevention and protection, as well as our response to emergency calls, we are determined to save more lives and reduce the risk of people being injured."

Areas where the service is not currently meeting its targets include supporting local authority and emergency service partners in reducing the number of people killed and seriously injured in road traffic collisions, reducing deaths arising from accidental house fires to zero and ensuring 15 per cent of new recruits are female and 15 per cent from ethnic minority backgrounds.

PCT launches summer surveys

CITY residents are to have their say on health services in two surveys this summer.

Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust (PCT) is holding two consultations, which are open until the end of August.

The first is asking residents to vote on the eight issues that are most important to them, such as reducing deaths from cancer or helping people give up smoking.

The second is a survey on a proposed GP-led health centre, asking what kind of services they would like to be included, such as an NHS dentist and general health checks.

People are also invited to say how important they think it is that they are involved in what the building will look like and how the health services will be developed.

Both surveys can be found on the PCT's website, www.miltonkeynes.nhs.uk

■ Hard copies of the first survey can be found in local libraries or call Sue Gardiner on 01908 243084.

■ For a hard copy of the second survey call 01908 243520.

Anti-bullying forum wins national award

STUDENTS tackling bullying in schools by promoting the 'Don't suffer in silence' message have won a national award.

Every month 20 students from secondary schools around Milton Keynes meet at Milton Keynes Theatre, a key supporter of the forum, to discuss the problem of bullying in schools.

The Milton Keynes Anti-Bullying Forum was formed by Milton Keynes Council to give the students the chance to combat the problem in a number of different and innovative ways.

Over the year they have been involved in a number of ideas including putting together a photo story CD about the threat of cyber-bullying and are to launch a song during Anti-Bullying week in November called 'Don't suffer in silence'.

The work of the forum has now won national recognition as the students are to receive the Diana Anti-Bullying Awards – only 60 to be made nationwide.

Cllr Sandra Clark, cabinet member responsible for schools, said: "It is a great honour for the students to be recognised for their work in this area.

"They act as peer mentors to victims in their respective schools and their initiatives are really making a difference.

"Milton Keynes Council is one of a handful of authorities to run these forums and that is why it is being recognised in these national awards as an example to others.

Cllr Sandra Clark presented the students, aged from 11 to 16, with a certificate, badge and a free trip to Althorp House at Milton Keynes Theatre on Tuesday, July 22.

Play workers win childcare 'Oscars'

PLAY workers Richard Ludbrook and Magda Wiora, both based at Stony Stratford Children's Centre, have received national recognition at the 'Oscars' of the childcare world, the Children's Stars Awards 2008.

Richard, aged 17, has been presented with the 'Young Achiever of the Year' award for his work with 4 to 16 year olds at Stony Stratford Children's Centre, where he's been a junior volunteer since 2006.

Magda Wiora, assistant playleader at Stony Stratford since Sept 2004, was selected as runner-up for the 'Play Worker of the Year' award.

The event in central London was hosted by TV and radio star, Neil Fox.

Organised by national children's charity, 4Children and supported by the Department for Children, Schools and Families, the awards honour the unsung heroes who work day in, day out to improve the lives of children and young people.

Mayor marks top SATS

A PRIMARY school is celebrating its success in the SATS tests.

St Mary's Wavendon CE Primary School achieved 100 per cent level fours or above in every subject.

Head teacher Susan Vint played host to a visit from Milton Keynes Mayor Jan Lloyd last Tuesday to celebrate their achievement.

Students brighten up nursery

GCSE art students from Leon School branched out into the community to create a stunning mural for The Wind in the Willows Nursery.

The design for the Windermere Drive nursery was based on willow trees, birds and rabbits.

The students spent two days working really hard in between rain showers to spray paint the design onto the outside wall using stencils .

They were supported by A-level art student Sarah Fraser and Rachel Wright, Leon's artist in residence. Rachel said: "The students really took up the challenge of working on such a huge scale and using new techniques. It's brilliant for them to be able to experience producing work outside the classroom and to brighten up the nursery children's environment."

Nicki Beech, manager at the nursery said: "A big thank you to the art students at Leon School and all who were involved with the mural. The children at the nursery enjoyed showing their parents the mural. We have had lots of positive comments from the local community."

■ For more information about art courses at Leon School & Sports College call 01908 624720, check out www.leon-school.org or visit the new Community Arts Centre on September 11.

Police release pic of missing woman

HAVE you seen this woman?

Police released this photograph yesterday of Christabel Amenu, aged 26, from Conniburrow, who was last seen by her sister on Christmas Day at their mother's house in Welwyn Garden City, Hertfordshire.

She was reported missing by her sister on May 8.

Detective Inspector Ray Summers said: "We're very concerned that Christabel has not been seen for such a long period of time.

"We are carrying out a number of enquiries but would like to hear from anyone who thinks they may have seen Christabel or had any contact with her since December.

"If Christabel herself sees this appeal we would ask her to contact us as soon as possible to let us know she is ok."

Anyone with information can contact DI Ray Summers on 08458 505505.

Nigel Grimmer with his Whitewall exhibition of paintings and photographs

Multi-media artist goes to the Wall

MORE than one million people have viewed art space Milton Keynes Contemporary WHITEWALL at thecentre:mk

To commemorate the two year milestone the latest exhibition is of striking images and photography by artist Nigel Grimmer alongside this a permanent display has been created of all the catalogues from previous WHITEWALL exhibitions.

Started in June 2006 the space features commissioned artists and aims to break down the perceived elitism surrounding contemporary fine art providing a platform to exhibit to a wider general audience.

Over its two year lifespan it has exhibited work from emerging to internationally renowned artists including Maslen & Mehra and explored mediums such as sculpture, poetry, photography and more traditional canvasses.

As part of WHITEWALL's ongoing support of the artists' development each exhibition has benefited from a catalogue publication of the work. Each catalogue features images from the exhibition and includes text from respected writers, journalists and critics including cultural commentator Judith Palmer and writer Edward Lucie-Smith.

Jackie Tracey, events manager at thecentre:mksaid: "thecentre:mk is thrilled to be involved with WHITEWALL and provide artists with another way of displaying their work to the general public.

"What started with Cnyht Bachelor xin 2006 has blossomed into a space where the shoppers of Milton Keynes and the surrounding region can stop and appreciate some of the strong up and coming artists the UK has to offer."

The two year anniversary exhibition features Nigel Grimmer a multimedia artist who selects the most appropriate medium for each of his projects.

'Time and Fire Destroy all Things' is a collection of photographic images which strike a fine balance between being touching and daft using popular props to build a strong narrative connecting with the viewing public. Each image is supplied with copy that provides an ironic twist encouraging the audience to question modern society.

A catalogue is available with text by Joanne Lee, senior lecturer in Fine Art at Nottingham Trent University.

Youngsters help develop cycle trail

YOUNG people have helped to develop a cycle trail to celebrate heritage in their area.

Children and teenagers joined organisers from local group Wolverton Unlimited and non profit organisation Make a Difference in an attempt to promote the city's heritage.

As the summer holidays began last week they took photos of key heritage sites in Wolverton and Greenleys which will form part of Cycle trail D, a leaflet produced by Milton Keynes Council that will help direct cyclists to interesting areas.

The volunteers borrowed bikes for the initiative from Re-Buy-Cycles and Sustrans, who run a free bike loan scheme.

Jak Richards, 14, said: "Working with other kids my age has been awesome, I've really enjoyed it."

The youth council was set up in January last year with initial funding from the Local Network Fund through Milton Keynes Community Foundation.

Since then Wolverton and Greenleys Young People have been getting involved in every aspect of civic life - organising events, volunteering, speaking at meetings and attending the local Neighbourhood Action Group.

COMPETITION

Win designer shades

Lesley A Arkin
OPTOMETRIST

STRUGGLING to find the perfect pair of shades to stay super cool this summer?

MK NEWS has teamed up with local Optometrist Lesley Arkin to offer one lucky couple the chance to each win a pair of designer sunglasses.

Not only that but one lucky runner-up will win a £25 gift voucher to use at the practice.

For her, the first prize will be a pair of chic ladies' Fendi sunglasses and for him a pair of suave men's Karl Lagerfeld sunglasses.

Lesley Arkin Optometrist, based in Stony Stratford, is the only practice in Milton Keynes to gain exclusive rights to stock the Fendi eyewear.

The Fendi 2008 collection is luxurious, ultra feminine and incorporates the Fendi logo in new innovative ways.

The Karl Lagerfeld 2008 collection features some fabulous aviator styles, white framed wayfarers and Lagerfeld's trademark black tinted glasses.

Celebrities such as Tom Cruise, Chris Martin and Ashton Kutcher are big fans of the Karl Lagerfeld collection and Julia Roberts has been seen sporting Fendi sunglasses on the red carpet.

Although Lesley Arkin Optometrist displays over 800 styles from at least 20 leading designers the main thing the practice prides itself on is its personal service.

Lesley Arkin said: "We always go the extra mile to ensure our customers are happy with their treatment and the service they have received.

"We pride ourselves on clinical excellence and fantastic customer service. Many of our customers have been with us for years and whenever a new person walks in its often through recommendation, which I am truly proud of."

The winners will receive a voucher from Lesley Arkin Optometrist to redeem their prize at the practice.

The runner-up will be able to spend their voucher on any ophthalmic glasses or sunglasses. A qualified dispensing optician will ensure that each winner walks away with a pair of glasses that fit comfortably and, if required, suitable prescription lenses can be added.

HOW TO ENTER

For your chance to win this fantastic prize simply answer the following question:

Which pretty woman wore Fendi sunglasses on the red carpet?

Send your answer on a postcard, along with your name and your partner's name, address and telephone number to: Lesly Arkin Competition, MK News, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes, Bucks, MK15 0DU.

Alternatively email competitions@mk-news.co.uk

Deadline for entries is August 6.

Burslem Pottery

comes to Woburn China Shop on Saturday 2nd August 10am - 4pm

The name 'Burslem Pottery' has been around for well over a hundred years, with its fortunes sometime up, then down and finally non-existent. Founded in 1894 by C F Bailey at the Scotia Works, Burslem, Stoke-on-Trent, Burslem Pottery made decorated earthenware for domestic use.

The art which Burslem Pottery produces today originates from the time that Burslem Pottery Limited was a Moorcroft company and the magic passed on to it from that company was an ability to create defined design images in stoneware, something which had eluded potters for more than six centuries until Moorcroft cracked the secret. The quirky, sculptured birds, reptiles, animals and sgraffito linework did not sit comfortably with the Moorcroft style today, and so Moorcroft passed on its creation. Deep in the heart of the Staffordshire Potteries, a small team continues the tradition of making unique stoneware by hand from start to finish. Special colours, glazes and raw materials are sourced from around the world. The pottery is fired in special kilns at temperatures so high that colour, clay and glazes fuse together to create totally unique works of art. No two pieces will ever be the same.

On Saturday, 2nd August, Burslem Pottery travels from its home in Stoke-on-Trent to Woburn China Shop. The famous Burslem Pottery models will be there, as will a colourful display of vases, lamps and much more.

Come and visit us on the day to see:

• Tracey Bentley who previously worked for Cobridge Stoneware and Moorcroft, demonstrating the fine art of stoneware painting and glazing.

• Steve Shaw will be demonstrating how he hand draws directly onto the wet clay; from the simplest flower design to the more detailed designs such as canal scenes, horses, pottery kilns, and wild animals. Steve will also demonstrate how, after drawing the design, he has to sgraffito (etch) into the clay all the detail.

• Jerry Marshall will answer any questions about the processes and the range of art pottery for sale.

Also on sale will be a specially designed 'Woburn Vase' made with the Abbey & Safari Park in mind. This vase will be exclusive to Woburn China Shop. A limited number will be available on the day and these along with other purchases will be signed by Steve & Tracey.

Free light refreshments will be available, so why not bring friends and family and enjoy a visit to Woburn. Our summer sale is currently on, so as well as a fascinating insight into Burslem Pottery with savings to be made, there are bargains to be had throughout the store!

Cash for second old folks' village

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE city has been granted more than £3million by the Government to build housing for the elderly.

The Department of Health has awarded an Extra Care Housing Grant of £3.5 million to Milton Keynes Council.

The money will help fund an estimated £35million project to develop the second extra care housing village to be built in the city.

Kiln Farm is one of a number of sites proposed for the scheme, which will provide 300 units for elderly people.

Isobel McCall, leader of Milton Keynes Council said: "The first extra care village at Willen has allowed tenants to enjoy greater privacy, dignity and independence; couples can stay together, and social and leisure opportunities can be enjoyed at the residents' convenience.

"We are hoping to replicate the success of the first village by offering even more residents a chance to live in homes dedicated to supporting their changing health needs as they get older."

John Payne, partnership director for The ExtraCare Charitable Trust said: "There is significant local demand for such a scheme following the successful opening of Lovat Fields Village in Willen, last year."

"The village proposal offers opportunities for Milton Keynes residents to rent, part-purchase or buy their village property at an affordable cost.

"It will be an attractive housing solution for both tenants and an increasing number of older home owners who will not need to leave or sell their village home if they require care and have only limited resources to meet their costs."

Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West said: "I would like to congratulate MK Council on their successful grant application; their bid was selected due to their ability to promote individual dignity and wellbeing and work in partnership with local health and other bodies."

Website for young people

MORE than 100 young people have taken part in the launch of a new website designed to better their lives.

A conference at Jurys Inn marked the launch of the new website for young people in Milton Keynes – www.mysaymk.com

Developed with young people by Milton Keynes Youth Service and Connexions:MK, the site has been created so that all the useful information for young people is in one place, including: an activities search for what's on for young people; online forum; games and online polls; 'agony aunt' section; and advice and information on lots of issues at the front of young people's minds, with links through to specialist agencies.

Young people also had a chance to meet and quiz key decision-makers and opinion formers via a 'speed meeting' exercise where senior members of the council and other Milton Keynes organisations spent several minutes at each table. Under the spotlight were: MK Mayor Jan Lloyd. MK Council's chief executive Kate Page; Sharon Scott, director of children and young people's service for the council; and Cllr Norman Miles.

CHIME
Shapeshifters

IT'S a brave, brave person – or collective, as it turns out – who covers the best song Orbital ever did.

Now, I know people get misty-eyed about the acid house and rave era, but you have to remember there was an awful lot of rubbish around back then too.

For every It's Grim Up North there was a Tetris and for every Prodigy there was a 2 Unlimited, and as if that wasn't enough don't forget that dance music has a way of pushing itself forward a bit faster than other genres of music.

So if an 18-year-old track can still hold its own today it really must be something rather special.

If you ask me, the original version of Chime still stands up against the stuff you can get on the Ministry of Sound compilations (and it's a mile ahead of almost anything on an Clubland compilation), so I suppose I should be thanking the Shapeshifters for agreeing with me.

Their version might as well be a remix rather than a remake, that's how closely it follows the original. Actually, let's be honest, there are places where it sounds identical – I'm not certain, but I think it uses the same sounds from the original and everything. Mind you, that's no bad thing, as long as they didn't try anything silly the Shapeshifters were always onto a winner with this one.

IF THIS IS LOVE
The Saturdays

What with this oufit, Friday Hill, The Sundays and the Happy Mondays, you've got yourself a long weekend's worth of band names.

It's starting to look a bit like this week's turning into a 1990 special too, because the song's underpinned by Yazoo's Situation and guess when that was a hit.

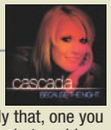
One cover version and another song that's heavily based on another – who says the music industry's running out of ideas?

Here's one for the conspiracy theorists – the Saturdays have recently been touring with Girls Aloud, and they share the same record label as Girls Aloud, and their ratio of male to female members is the same as Girls Aloud, and they have the same number of personnel as Girls Aloud – anyone would think that Polydor Records might be trying to line up a ready-made replacement just in case.

If that's the case the Saturdays will have to do a little bit better than this. Yes, it's nice that they've sampled Yazoo, but they've brought the pitch down and the rest of the song's a bit pedestrian, which hardly helps.

If you're releasing your first single, I'd have thought you'd want people to sit up and take notice. The singing's good, but you could say that about a lot of singles. This is merely alright, and that makes it a missed opportunity.

BECAUSE THE NIGHT
Cascada



A DECENT tune, and not only that, one you know you shouldn't dance to but could probably get away with doing so anyway.

The singer delivers her lines with utter conviction too, which helps.

It's nice and short – this one knows how to leave the listener wanting more. Fantastic stuff. Yes, it's been far too long since I last heard Connection by Elastica. What? You didn't seriously think I was saying all that about Cascada's latest Eurodisco horror, did you? You must be joking, I thought it would be much more worthwhile to review the song I listened to afterwards.

THE DARK KNIGHT THE FILM

A MENTALLY unstable rich American charges around a grim city in a black rubbery cape in pursuit of an even more mentally unstable bad guy dressed as a clown.

His chum, the new district attorney pledges to tackle the mob and comes a cropper.

His ex-girlfriend (who has a strange nose) starts going out with the district attorney and tension results

These are a few of my favourite things:

Michael Caine is good in it.

Heath Ledger is very good in it but doesn't get a great deal of screen time.

Gary Oldman is good in it and it's nice to see him playing a good guy for a change.

Oh and I had some nice nachos.

These are a few of my least favourite things:

Lots of things blow up and everything is very dark and it's quite difficult to tell what's going on and the whole thing rattles along for about two and a half hours.

Batman doesn't actually do all that much and he's a bit of a bore, and he has a very, very silly, gruff voice.

So, well, look, its OK but only OK and nowhere near as good as the last one.

I'm waiting for Hellboy 2.

Competition 2008

Starts Friday, August 1

In its 10th and final year this competition has been extremely important in showcasing, building and exposing a lot of young bands in MK's music scene over the years, by the end of this summer 200 bands would have entered.

So make an effort to get along and support all the young bands showcasing.

Despite having some great prizes, the most important thing is for the bands to get a chance to play in front of a lot of supportive people and start to build their following.

With five heats over the next five Fridays a band from each heat will win its way through to the Grand Final and a chance to get their hands on prizes which include recording sessions with Nemma (Fell Silent) at Studio 33 and a second session at Eastwood Studio along with a T-shirt deal through Dar2wear.

The winning band will also get a headline gig at The Pitz, free hearsal time at Oldschool Music Studios, the opportunity to write a track for MK Dons TV, a Marshall amp, cash and more.

The first heat sees False Alibis (rock) face up with Rise Inside (alt metal ambient) solo acoustic Steffan Vale and the hard rock Trash Monkey – with this sort of diversity there is something for everyone.

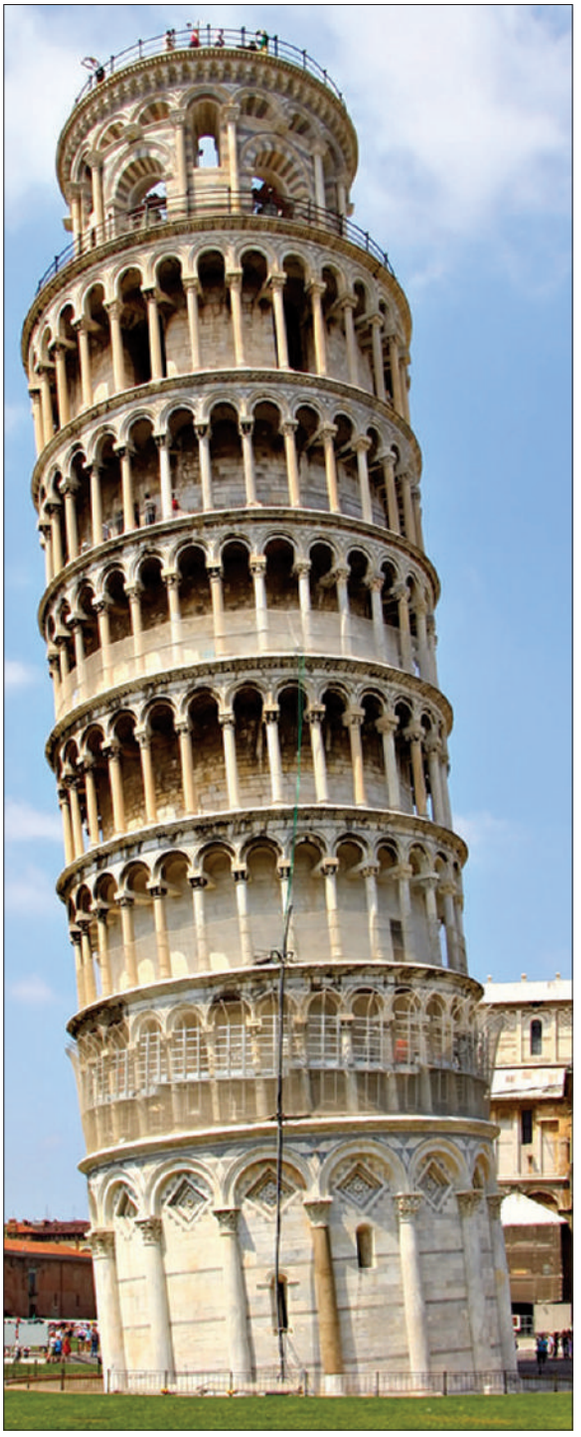
SUMMERTRAVEL

Beautiful buildings, beautiful people, and beautiful shops – selling beautiful clothes



The leaning Tower of Pisa. Above right: Lucca – less flashy than Florence

THE first time I laid eyes on the Leaning Tower of Pisa it took my breath away. The Italian bell tower is remarkable and how it has stayed up for so many years defies logic. One thing is for sure - it will fall down.

Well unless some genius architect can come up with a master plan to save it. I wouldn't put money on it though because numerous attempts over the years have proved fruitless.

Just as amazing as the tower itself is the fact that building started in 1173 and lasted, with various phases of inactivity, for around 200 years.

In the past people believed the inclination of the tower was part of the project but actually it was supposed to be vertical and the foundations on which it was laid are to blame for the lean (there's a much more complicated explanation but slightly boring so I won't bother).

It deserves the special attention it has enjoyed over the last nine centuries and the best surprise for me was that you can go up it for a snip at 15 Euros.

As you walk up the steps you actually lean in different directions and the views from the top are spectacular.

But there is much more to Pisa than just the tower. I'm not talking about the market selling tat that lines the street as you approach the tower. A strange phenomenem to look at Learning Tower of Pisa pasta shells, or wine bottles or key-rings or candles etc when you've got the real thing right in front of you.

The Tuscan city is located close to the Arno River in North West Italy and makes an ideal base to travel to other places of interest in Tuscany.

A short easyJet flight from London Luton and you land at Pisa Airport and a quick shuttle bus ride later you're in the centre of Pisa. I stayed at the four-star Hotel Bonanno, a great place with really helpful staff who will guide in the right direction to wherever you want to go.

A trip to Pisa wouldn't be complete without a journey to Florence, the capital city of Tuscany.

Prepared to be wowed. It's full of beautiful buildings, beautiful people, and beautiful shops selling beautiful clothes.

Loads of people stay in pricey Florence but staying in Pisa and going there for a day trip (about 90 minutes on the train) is a much cheaper alternative. You can enjoy an open air bus tour around the city which is packed with stunning architecture which makes some of what we have in London pretty mediocre.

And the tour goes up into the mountains where you can jump out for an hour to have a quick look around before being picked up again.

Florence is crammed with monuments, churches and renaissance buildings but the best known landmark is the domed cathedral Santa Maria Fiore, known as the Duomo. Just to give you an idea of costs, having two cafe lattes in a little place overlooking the Duomo will cost you about 12 Euros.

If you want to get out of Pisa you can also visit a lovely medieval town called Lucca, just 20 minutes on the train (train station just five minute walk from Hotel Bonanno). As usual when you get the train in Europe, expect a punctual, inexpensive, clean and friendly service, completely at odds with what we're used to in this country.

Lucca is beautiful and less flashy than Florence. Not many tourists here so it's a bit of gem. If you are happy to get lost in a labyrinth of typical charming Italian cobbled streets encircled by walls, then people watch in a sun-kissed piazza drinking coffee and eating proper ice-cream, you'll love it here.

And you will see a Vespa resting up against a wall with patchy paintwork and elderly ladies dressed in black sitting outside chatting.

Broughton and Milton Keynes Parish Council

Tenant required for Sports Pavilion and Sports Pitches

The Parish Council owns the sports pavilion sited on Worrelle Avenue, Middleton. The pavilion is a licensed premises with two sets of changing rooms, showers, social area, office, kitchen and cellar. It services playing fields for both cricket and football. The Parish Council wish the primary use of the premises to be sporting and community use, for the benefit of parishioners and those who belong to sports clubs and other local organisations.

The Parish Council is looking for a tenant to take over the management and running of the pavilion and pitches under a new lease.

The Milton Keynes Village cricket club and the Colts Football Club are the sporting bodies that are based in the pavilion, and it is envisaged that they would continue to be the main sporting users of the premises. In addition the building is used by a number of community and private organisations and individuals. Any tenant would be free to organise the private hire of the building and grounds when it is not in use by the sporting clubs.

The tenant would be responsible for the full repairing lease, the running costs of the building, and the maintenance of the pitches. The tenant would be free to set the rates of hire, (for both sporting and non sporting users), sale of food and beverages, and any other costs associated with hiring the premises.

Interested parties can find the "Heads of Terms" on the Parish Council website www.broughtonandmkv-pc.gov.uk. Applications should be sent to Helen Ward, the Parish Clerk by the 31st August 2008, email: clerk@broughtonandmkv-pc.gov.uk giving details of experience/background relevant to the application. The successful applicant will need to supply references and obtain a licence to operate the bar.

Apprenticeships a cut above

MILTON Keynes hair and beauty salon Arcana was selected to represent the South East of England in the National Apprenticeship Awards, organised by the Learning and Skills Council (LSC).

Arcana, in Shenley Brook End, won 'Small Employer of the Year' at the regional LSC awards before competing for the top award with other finalists from all round the country.

Award winners were announced by Amanda Holden in London on July 10.

This is the fifth year of the awards programme, which has categories for employers and employees.

The awards provide recognition to employers who are successfully using apprenticeships to improve business performance, and to hard-working, committed individuals currently on, or who have recently completed, an apprenticeship.

Arcana has expanded rapidly since the business was started, largely thanks to apprenticeships.

Salon manager Debbie Elderton said: "We are so pleased that the great emphasis we place on training our apprentices has been fully recognised by the LSC – not only regionally but crucially at a national level.

Amanda Holden with the award winners at National Apprenticeship Awards. Debbie Elderton is second left

"I am aware that the success of my business depends on employing a highly-skilled workforce, and fully recognise how our apprentices have played a crucial role in achieving this.

"The apprenticeship programme presented me with the ideal way of investing in staff for my salon.

"I didn't just want employees who were going to train for their qualifications and then move onto another job; I wanted to create a culture where staff felt that they had plenty of opportunities to progress within the organisation."

The company, which has supplied over 2.4 million instruments to musicians worldwide, has taken one of the high class, recently-built production- distribution units.

Having been based in the region for the last 10 years, the need to expand its operations prompted Kawai to seek larger premises– suitable for its UK headquarters and distribution hub.

Happy Mondays

A MIXTURE of bad working habits and a culture of long working hours means that Friday is the least productive day of the week, while Monday is the most productive says research released today.

The report, Energising Business, by HR consultancy Chiumento reveals that on Monday people feel refreshed after the weekend break and ready to tackle the week.

But by Friday, a combination of too little sleep, not enough breaks during the working day, eating'"on the hoof' and long working hours throughout the week is causing Brits to feel burnt out.

The findings of the research, conducted by Reed Business Information among HR professionals suggests that this could be a pattern among other work groups.

Dr Andrew Hill, Director of Talent Management at Chiumento and author of the report, said: "It is widely acknowledged that the UK has a culture of long working hours.

"So it's not surprising that Monday is the most productive day of the week as people are refreshed after the weekend.

"No-one can perform at their best if they're too stressed to sleep, in too much of a rush to eat breakfast and are then tied to their desk all day, not even managing to take a break at lunch, particularly if they then have to work late.

"Yet people misguidedly think working in this way is what is expected and the best way to achieve results. †In fact, it leads to burn-out by the end of the week."

The research revealed that only 16 per cent of respondents regularly eat lunch away from their desk and take breaks throughout the day. Outside of working hours, 16 per cent admitted that they rarely get a good night's sleep and 20 per cent said they rarely or never ate breakfast.

"Having breaks and a healthy lifestyle is the key for a productive workforce who are able to cope with the daily pressures of work. People need to work smarter rather than harder.

"These findings reflect what is happening in HR but inevitably this will be reflected elsewhere in the business. In the current difficult economic climate it is even more important for employees to be productive in order for businesses to stay efficient.

"The priority for organisations should be to optimize value from their investment in people, but putting pressure on individuals to work longer hours suggests that business leaders are missing the point."

Regulations 2007

Milton Keynes Council is proposing to designate the public land bounded by the boundary line on the map of Bradwell Parish area by Order made under the above mentioned Regulations due to recent incidents of anti-social behaviour by persons using alcohol at these locations.

If an Order is made, then a Thames Valley Police Constable or Police Community Support Officer will be able to require the person consuming alcohol in a manner that may result in nuisance or annoyance to members of the public, or disorder, to cease that activity, and if necessary surrender containers of alcohol for disposal as considered appropriate.

The Order would not prevent a person consuming alcohol in a manner that does not give rise to any anti-social behaviour.

Background information on this issue is available for inspection at the Environmental Health Division, Civic Offices, 1 Saxon Gate East, Central Milton Keynes, MK9 3HH, between 9am and 5.15pm, Monday to Friday.

The Council is now consulting widely on this proposal, and observations from members of the general public would be welcomed by noon 3rd September 2008 at the address below.

MK MOTORING

Diesel do nicely

THE petrol-engined Citroen C-Crosser won't be for everyone but its exclusive availability in entry-level trim and with the CVT automatic gearbox make it a desirable option for certain customer groups.

The diesel is the more satisfying engine but running the smooth, powerful 2.4-litre petrol option should be no hardship.

It's diesel power that buyers of compact 4x4 vehicles traditionally favour and Citroen's C-Crosser has a commendable diesel engine in its 2.2-litre HDi unit.

It also has another engine, however, one that it would be easy for buyers to overlook. The question at hand is whether overlooking the 2.4-litre petrol C-Crosser is a sensible course of action, or not?

4x4 buyers like diesel for a number of reasons. The muscular torque characteristics of diesel engines make them good for towing duties, getting a hefty vehicle quickly up to speed and, should the need arise, hauling one difficult off-road terrain.

Diesel of course, also out performs petrol on the fuel economy front.

The advantage of petrol tends to come in its upfront affordability and greater smoothness, although we're talking in very general terms here. What about the petrol engine in the C-Crosser?

Well, it's a 2.4-litre 170bhp unit which makes it more powerful than the 156bhp 2.2-litre HDi diesel alternative.

It's a little faster from 0-60mph with a 9.2s showing compared to the 9.9s managed by the HDi and it's available with a CVT automatic gearbox.

The engine revs freely and offers superior refinement to the diesel but that low-end muscle that 4x4 buyers like is never very forthcoming. It feels like you need to work the engine harder to get the most out of it.

The 2.4-litre petrol engine in the C-Crosser is the entry-level choice, despite its 14bhp power advantage over the 2.2-litre diesel.

The price differential between the two engines appears to be a big one as well, but while the more expensive diesel model opens in VTR+ trim, the base 2.4-litre comes as a less luxurious VTR.

You can get the 2.4-litre as a VTR+ or a plush Exclusive, should you feel that way inclined, but only if you also take the CVT gearbox.

Because of this, direct comparisons between the petrol and diesel aren't that easy to make.

There's no automatic option with the oil-burner so anyone intent on having the cogs swapped for them is stuck with petrol and it's a similar story with the VTR trim level.

This comes accompanied exclusively by the 2.4-litre engine and a five-speed manual gearbox.

The C-Crosser VTR is still reasonably well equipped despite its lowly positioning in the range.

It comes with only five seats but automatic folding rear seats, cruise control, light sensing headlamps and a split tailgate are standard.

There's no doubt that the C-Crosser is at its best in diesel form. The petrol unit can't match its muscle or its economy and the HDi unit delivers a more flexible, relaxing driving experience. The 2.4-litre option will still make sense if you prioritise refinement, want to pay as little as possible for your C-Crosser or must have an automatic gearbox.

Regardless of the engine installed, the C-Crosser is one of the top road-going compact 4x4s for value and practicality.

Save money servicing your car

VW, AUDI, SEAT, SKODA

Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service where they can speak to the engineer working on their car. Our work is second to none and they still save up to 50% on main dealer prices

Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill.

We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.

Our workshop carry's the latest VAG approved equipment including

- VAG approved computer diagnostics
- VAG approved four wheel alignment
- Tyre fitting and computerised balancing
- Air conditioning services
- VAG trained technicians
- Reception with broadband access

We offer a full range of tuning services including engine tuning and track day preparation.

Sam Baldock celebrates his goal against Reading with Aaron Wilbraham

'Net-buster' is ready to shine

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

PROMISING youngster Sam Baldock – have you heard that before?

For the striker himself it is a tag attached to him that is all too familiar.

Baldock is ready to stop that label and hold down a regular first team spot.

Since joining MK Dons' academy in 2004 he has been touted as the one to watch.

Perhaps it was his ability to bust the back of the net on a regular basis in the youth team that propelled his name and had fans talking on the terraces.

But four years down the line it appears Dons fans are still waiting and Baldock is the first to admit the transition from youth, to reserve, to the first team has been a little frustrating.

Speaking about his reputation as the up and coming youngster Baldock told MK NEWS: "Hopefully this year I will get rid of that reputation and I'll get a Sam Baldock first team regular kind of status."

And it might not be a far fetched dream.

Roberto Di Matteo has clearly seen something in the 19-year-old.

The new boss has handed him two starts in his pre-season matches against Championship opposition Reading and Sheffield Wednesday.

Granted, had Kevin Gallen not been struggling with injury then Baldock may not have been given the same opportunity, but he is grabbing the chance in front of him.

"I've been around the club and the first team for a couple of years now.

"I feel I'm ready and I feel one of the team in pre-season. Hopefully I've got a lot to give the club."

The friendlies have both ended in defeats but the performances from Baldock, who scored his first goal in the 2-1 defeat to Reading, and his link-up play with Aaron Wilbraham have caught the eye.

"The little and large combination we have seems to work well.

"I enjoy playing with him, he's quite an experienced player so I'm learning."

Baldock, who became the first Milton Keynes native to play for the Dons when he made his debut in 2005, has experienced a stop-start progression into the first team, mainly due to the changes in the managerial department.

But it speaks volumes for the former-Royal Latin student that the likes of Martin Allen, Paul Ince and now Di Matteo have been impressed by his talent.

"It's been frustrating in the way I haven't really been able to stake my claim in a proper game. I think, given the minutes I think I'll score the goals.

"That's my personal opinion, I'm quite a confident player and I shoot on sight."

Having worked under the guidance of academy boss Mike Dove, then Allen and Ince has undoubtedly made Baldock a better player.

Yet he is still learning his trade and in training he's working on his positional play to make sure he gets the better of his opponent.

And his targets for the season ahead?

"I want to try and set down a place and score goals. My main asset is scoring goals, so I'll work hard in training and if given the time I'll do the same on the pitch."

Dons work on defence hit for six in two games

ROBERTO Di Matteo has told his squad to cut out their defensive errors.

Tonight MK Dons will line-up for their final pre-season friendly against Watford and the boss wants mistakes that have seen six goals against them in two games to disappear.

Two days of training in the blistering heat at Woughton-on-the-Green has put the players through their paces.

Di Matteo has admitted three friendlies with Championship opposition is not the ideal preparations for the team ahead of the new season, but he is working it as best as he can.

"We keep working on what we'd like to improve and the players are responding very well.

"Obviously we don't like to concede easy goals so we're working on that.

"I'm not expecting the team to be sharp yet, our pre-season schedule hasn't been ideal to be honest, so it is the performances rather than the results that matter."

As normal practice in the summer fans have been more interested in matters off the field in relation to transfers coming and going.

The club have still not received any offers for transfer-listed Keith Andrews while whispers of an unsettled Willy Gueret are new to him.

When asked if he had discussed Gueret's future with the keeper Di Matteo said: "Willy hasn't spoken to me about it, as far as I know he's an MK Dons player, he's got a contract and we haven't had any offers for him either."

The Dons boss also revealed Hearts striker Calum Elliot has returned to Scotland.

The Scotland Under-21 forward had visited the Dons last week.

"Calum unfortunately couldn't play in the last friendly and so he decided to go back to Scotland.

"We've withdrawn our interest because we didn't have chance to play him or train with him."

Jude Stirling is likely to miss the game as he struggles with a toe injury. He joins a lengthy queue for the treatment table as Danny Swailes (Achilles), Kevin Gallen (toe) and Drissa Diallo (shoulder) are all set to be on the sidelines.

Gueret (hip) is in contention to play.

Old boys back for Lions

Old boy New back in forward line

BASKETBALL

VINCE Macaulay has called back two of his star players from last year as he rebuilds his team for the next season.

Both Mike New and Terrell Brown have joined rookie Carl McNully at MK Lions for the upcoming basketball campaign.

While other teams in the British Basketball League have been snapping up players left right and centre Lions coach Macaulay has taken a little longer to decide what he needs for the year ahead.

But the resigning of New and Brown is music to the ears of the Lions fans.

Standing at 6ft 9ins New is a tower of strength and experience in the side yet it is his age that has raised one or two eyebrows in the past.

New, 40, is the oldest player in the league and balances his time playing with his role of assistant coach and academy director.

It will be the forward's third year playing for the Lions.

Macaulay is ecstatic about the acquisition of a player whose influence extends far from the basketball court.

"Mike is a work horse," Macaulay said, "He only knows how to give 100 per cent, as our academy director he is the perfect man to influence the young men and women who enter in the MK College Basketball Academy, whilst on court he lets the rest of the team know that they will have to give of their best.

"Mike is a true professional, he has helped us in many areas of preparation and the players follow his lead from a fitness and preparation point of view, also it's always nice to have someone nearer my age to talk to rather than listen to i-pod tunes by people I've never heard of."

Meanwhile, Brown, 23, has added his name to the squad for next season. He averaged 12 points a game last year and played a vital part in the Lions' BBL Cup triumph.

After siging for the Lions three years ago as a graduate of Charleston Southern University Brown has won a regular spot in the Lions side with his explosive pace, sharp shooting alongside his defensive skills.

Macaulay was delighted to see the American point guard sign up for another season in Milton Keynes, he said: "Terrell has matured so much over the last two seasons, for me he is the best point guard in the BBL. "He shows up in the big games and runs the team with drive and energy."

Lightning build with three more signings

ICE HOCKEY

WITH the new ice hockey season looming ever closer MK Lightning have continued to strengthen their squad with three signings.

Ales Parez and Greg Randall have both agreed new deals while Lukas Zatopek is the latest addition to the Milton Keynes team.

Zatopek, born in the Czech Republic like team mate Parez, joins the team after spending a year in the German league.

A strong defender 6ft 3ins Zatopek will add the bulk at the back line while he is also expected to weigh in with the goals after top scoring from defence with his two previous teams.

Speaking on his latest capture coach Nick Poole said: "Lukas brings an element to our side that we have been lacking over the last couple of seasons. We have added a lot of size to our team at the back without sacrificing any skill.

"I am hoping that Lukas will have a huge impact on our league and will be one of the dominant defenders."

Last season Parez impressed on the ice as the third highest scorer in the team that was despite being sidelined for seven weeks due to injury.

Poole described the re-signing of the forward as "massive" due to his ability to play both the wing and centre.

He said: "Al is a very deceptive player and for a big lad he has a fantastic touch that can play in all situations.

"He has great composure on the puck and is a very difficult player to play against. I believe he will be even better next season as he now fully understands what our league is about and how he can be best effective."

Randall's signature came as no surprise to the Lightning faithful as the loyal player will return for his sixth year with the club.

After an injury-ravished season Randall is keen to re-stamp his influence on the team.

The versatile player who is at just as comfortable at the back as he is up front will have something to prove, according to Poole.

"I believe he will come into this season much fresher and hungrier and I am sure our team will benefit from it. "Randy has become a firm fan favourite and we all look forward to seeing his silky skills on display again this coming season"

Division one

EATON Bray stayed at the top of the table thanks to a three wicket win over Newport Pagnell Town.

Mike Page had lead the way for Newport (164) when he top scored with 64 but all his good work was undone by bowler Andy Norris who claimed 4-27.

Although James Fletcher (3-40) restricted Eaton they were guided to victory by knocks from Gary Ellerton (57no) and Lee Bearton (37).

New Bradwell remain in second place despite losing by five wickets to Winslow Town.

Kieron Price (3-25) kept New Bradwell limited to a 119 as their total and it was matched with ease as Glyn Davies hit 36 for the victory.

Olney Town piled on yet more misery for Milton Keynes as they lost their nine game of the season.

M Nandar smashed an unbeaten 141 for Olney but it wasn't enough as they were condemned to a four wicket defeat which cemented their place at the bottom of the league.

Matt Goss' 137 for North Crawley went to waste as they lost by five wickets to Aspley Guise while MK City beat Cublington by five wickets.

Division two

SECOND from bottom Aston Clinton (141) were handed a heavy 131 run defeat by Elstow (272-6) who moved 19 points clear at the top.

Mentmore are 28 points adrift at the bottom following their 136 run defeat to the Open University (271-4) and Soulbury (240) shared the points with Old Bradwell (172).

Eddlesborough forfeited their match with Studham and gave their opposition 30 points in the process.

Division three

ANTON De Beer was the winning factor for Shenley Church End as they beat Drayton Parslow by 44 runs.

The all rounder hit 61 with the bat then took five for 37 to give his victory.

Whitchurch maintained second following their three wicket win over New Bradwell 2nds and North Crawley (142) lost by 97 runs to Eggington Foresters (239-9).

Eaton Bray 2nds (226-4) stay at the foot of the table after losing by six wickets to Milton Bryan (230-5).

Trevor Scott at the crease for Newport Pagnell

Division four

HONOURS were even between Old Bradwell 2nds and MK City 2nds.

Ashley Moyo posted 90 on the scoreboard as MK reached 195-8 but Justin Downard's unbeaten 77 ensured Old Bradwell (173-9) were able to bat out their innings.

Milton Keynes were thrashed by ten wickets at the hands of Printers.

The Printers bowlers tore through the Milton Keynes line-up with Paul Bevis claiming 4-18 and Steve Palmer 3-12.

Palmer then weighed in with 48no alongside Pete Dunn's unbeaten half century for the win.

Cranfield University (265-7) drew with Willen 2nds (163-8).

Division five

CUBLINGTON are still unbeaten and leading the way in division five.

They gave Little Horwood (154-8) a seven wicket defeat.

Simon Bracey's knock of 92no helped Newport Pagnell 2nds (204-3) to a seven wicket win over Stewkley 2nds (202-4).

Tring Park 4ths (163-9) lost by one wicket to Milton Bryan 2nds (164-9) and Turvey 2ndds (207-9) drew with Wing (185-7).

CHERWELL LEAGUE

Division two

A SUPERB innings from James Sprittles, which saw him reach 120, could not prevent MK Park from drawing with Tiddington.

Park were left reeling at 35-2 in the 12th order when Sprittles steadied the ship.

When Ghufran Mohammed joined Sprittles at the crease the pair added 138 in 19 overs until Mohammed fell for 86 off only 58 balls.

Sprittles brought up his century with yet another boundary but was eventually caught with Park on 260.

Park's final four wickets fell without adding to the total.

Mohammed carried his performance with the bat into his bowling with 3-37 limiting Tiddington's score.

Captain Graham Simpson took 3-39 but their hosts held out 180-9.

The draw keeps Park at the top.

NORTHANTS PREMIER LEAGUE

ANOTHER promising display by Stony Stratford was not enough to earn them their first win of the season.

Instead they are 30 points adrift at the bottom of the table following a 46 run defeat to Peterborough.

After winning the toss Stony decided to bowl and it was a move that appeared to be paying off as Stuart Brandom (5-52) registered his first five wicket haul of the season.

But Peterborough still managed to reach 254-9 from their 53 overs.

Stony were close to matching the total at one stage as Dion Ebrahim and Simon Myatt top scored with 47.

Yet the run-rate slowed and the tail-end fell cheaply, leaving Stony with a desperate fight against relegation on their hands.

Girls on the ball

GIRLS' football is growing in MK and one young team has been inspired by a visit from England star Faye White.

Players from Woburn Lionesses took the chance to quiz the Arsenal Ladies' captain at their end-of-season presentations.

Faye took part in their question and answer session and posed for photos with all 75 players.

The under 12s claimed a first league title and the club hosted the largest girls-only football tournament within a 40 mile radius of Milton Keynes.

They are seeking new players of all age groups for the new season.

Randall's palace link

MARK Randall is doing his best to grab the attention of Arsene Wenger.

The Milton Keynes youngster is continuing to impress at Arsenal and has been given his opportunity to shine in their pre-season schedule.

Randall, who signed professional terms with the Gunners last year, had a 45 minute run out on Monday night when Arsenal hammered a Burgenland XI 10-2.

And the 19-year-old has done no harm to his chance of first team action with his solid performances.

The arrival of Samir Nasri and Aaron Ramsey may have seen him drop down in the pecking order.

It is thought Wenger will send Randall on loan again this season to guarantee the promising midfielder gets plenty of regular football under his belt.

Last season Randall spent time with Burnley and has already been linked to a temporary move to Crystal Palace.

Third time lucky?

RED Bull Racing are hoping for a case of third time lucky at this weekend's Hungarian Grand Prix.

The Formula One team will fit David Coulthard's car with the same Renault V8 engine they used in the British and German races.

But team mate Mark Webber will have a new engine as Red Bull hope to keep up the battle with Williams for the fourth spot in the Constructors' Championship.

Jump joy for a grieving Rutherford

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's star athletes had mixed experiences at the London Grand Prix – a warm up event ahead of the Beijing Olympics.

Greg Rutherford continued his impressive preparations with yet another winning leap in the long jump while Craig Pickering was given a bit of a reality check.

Once again Rutherford pulled out a victory clinching jump despite nursing secret heartache.

Two weeks ago the MK athlete managed a season best 8.20meters in the Olympic Trails after finding out his grandfather had terminal cancer.

In the build up to the meeting at Crystal Palace Rutherford received the sad news that his grandfather had passed away. Yet, the 21-year-old saw off his fellow competitors with a 8.16m landing.

It had been a slow start for Rutherford before he recorded the best jump of the day on his third attempt, followed by a solid 8.12m on his fourth.

Although there was joy for Rutherford his GB team mate Chris Tomlinson was forced to pull out after tearing his calf muscle and is now a major doubt for the Games.

Meanwhile, Milton Keynes Athletic Club runner Pickering was left frustrated in the 100metres race.

It was the most anticipated event yet turned into a disappointment for the Brits.

Pickering was the only Briton to make it into the 100m final.

The 21-year-old sprinter clocked a time of 10.25seconds in the heats but progressed through to the final as one of the fastest losers.

But Pickering was left snapping at his rival's heels crossing the line in last place with a time of 10.21sec.

It was Jamaican Asafa Powell who took first spot and is now amongst the favourite alongside Tyson Gay to win gold at the Olympics.

There was better news for Pickering in the 4x100m relay as the team clinched third place.

But it was clear that the relay side still have a lot of work if they are to retain their Olympic gold medals.

Four years ago Marlon Devonish, Mark Lewis-Francis, Darren Campbell and Jason Gardener won in Athens.

Now the pressure is on for this year's men's team to repeat the success.

Although the exchanging of the baton proved seamless GB were well beaten by the United States and Trinidad and Tobago.

Pickering, running the last leg, watched as Christian Malcolm, Tyrone Edgar and Devonish do their part before bringing the baton home in 38.34sec.

It is not yet clear whether that will be the same team to compete in Beijing due to Simeon Williamson's absence on the day.

Pickering said : "It's been seven years since I've run the last leg so I need the experience. We'll try to improve on that come Beijing."
